Russian and Japanese Credit.

A few days ago a St. Petersburg dispatch stated that the Russian government regarded the news that Japan will demand a money indemnity as evidence that the island empire is about at the end of its rope financially. Therefore, it was reasoned, it Russia can continue the fight for a few months longer, Japan will be compelled to concede peace on easy terms or face bankruptcy.

There is very little reason to believe that the Russian government actually takes this view of the situation. On the contrary all circumstances indicate that it would welcome an opportunity to make peace on almost any terms. Talk of forcing Japan into bankruptcy is silly, for Japan is in far better financial condition than Russia.
It is true that her resources are not as great, but nearness to the scene of operations reduces the cost of conducting the war to only a fraction of the cost to Russia. For this reason Japan is able to husband her resources, and every dollar spent counts for several times the same amount spent by her enemy. Moreover, Japan is free from graft and grafters, which have mulcted the Muscovite government of millions of dollars and caused it severe loss from inconvenience.

The Japanese budget for this year calls for $588,000,000 for war expenses, and of this sum $37,000,000 will be provided by the new internal taxes and $61,000,000 by economy in administration. Wherever possible public improvements and other government work have been stopped. The people are thrifty and have shown a remarkable capacity to take up domestic loans, and there is little doubt of their ability to supply the government with still more money for its future needs.
Foreign trade continues good, despite the war. During the first eleven months of the fighting the exports rose from $131,500,000 to $145,000,000.
In the same period the imports increased from $144,000,000 to $165,000,- 000, the deficit of $22,000,000 representing mostly coal and war material.

No such favorable showing can be made by Russia. The loan recently floated in Germany through the personal influence of the kaiser was coolly received, and the subscribers were nearly all nobles and others who desired to curry favor with the German and Russian governments. The bonds run for six years only, draw 6 per cent interest, and were sold at 90.33, which is equivalent to 6 1/2 per cent interest.
It is said that these are the hardest terms upon which the bonds of any nation have been placed for years, and bring the credit of Russia down below that of Turkey, the Balkan states and the republics of Central and South America. In striking contrast was a loan placed through the same bankers at 3 per cent at par at about the same time by one of the petty German states. But this is not the worst. According to the dispatches of the last few days, French financiers, after first refusing, have finally agreed to take a new Russian 6 per cent loan at 90 flat.

If Russia actually attempts to fight Japan into bankruptcy the chances are that she will ruin herself rather than her enemy.

Women to the Front.

Who would have supposed that Germany, which has been so conservative in regard to women, would be the first to give her anything like military prostise? English, French and American women have long looked upon their German sister as far in the background. They have felt a pitying compassion for her that she did not come out and assert herself, that she was forever willing to stay at home and be a household drudge.

Now, thanks to the German emperor, women are not only coming to the front, but are likely to go to the front if there should be war. Kaiser Wilhelm is of the opinion that women should be trained to endure the necessary hardships, take the long marches and be satisfied with hard fare and a certain amount of the privation to which the soldier is exposed.

The value of women as trained nurses and as volunteers has been admitted in our civil war. In the war in South Africa and in the Russo-Japanese war, but as yet little has been done by way of equipping them for any other service than that of nurse.
A suggestion came not long ago from Zurich to the effect that women should undergo some form of military discipline to prepare themselves in case of their country's emergency. The idea provoked a smile without conveying any thought of a serious purpose, but the emperor's project means business.

Of course it is not intended that women shall enlist and perform the duties of the common soldier, but there is no reason why a woman can not be trained to relieve the soldier of many duties now devolving upon him aside from those in which she has already engaged as nurse and as hospital superintendent.

If the emperor intends that all women under a certain age shall be subject to military discipline adapted for them it is possible that he has some other thought in mind than their service in time of war. He may have seen a tendency on the part of German women to adopt some of the independent ways of American women. He may have seen some evidences that they are not subordinate to their husbands, as the German wife is expected to be, and it may have occurred to him that a measure of military discipline would keep them within bounds and they would learn to conform to the "superiors." The emperor has much shrewdness and it may be that what appears to be an advanced position for woman is only a means of teaching her obedience.

If this plan of military training for women should spread to any extent the old reply to women's clamor for the ballot, "Then shoulder the musket," would no longer silence the argument.
If they are to undergo military training and be prepared for active service of some kind in time of war the last objection to their voting should vanish and they ought to be given the complete right of suffrage.

Giving the Tailor Fitts.

Several people in Chicago lately—they were mostly women—have brought suit in the justice courts against tailors for misfit clothing.
Some of the justices have been compelled to study the tailoring art in order to be able to judge correctly of the fit of garments, so that they will attract this sort of business instead of losing it to neighboring justices.

The last case reported is that of a wealthy contractor's wife who sued her tailor before a west side judge to recover the price paid him for an ill-fitting gown. The tailor admitted that the gown when exhibited to the justice was not a fit, but pleaded that it was a fit when he delivered it and that the woman had got fat since. He said he could not be expected to make a garment that would fit a thin and a fat woman equally well.

The woman's replication was that she had not grown an inch stouter since she got the gown, and she offered to prove this by showing that in all the intervening time she had been in St. Louis at the world's fair. The justice, of course, was no little embarrassed. It would have been different if he had felt free to take hold of the gown and see if by pulling on it he could make it meet, as the woman swore she could not do herself. As it was, the justice took the case under advisement.

In the course of the trial the tailor hinted at something which seems to call for more particular attention. He said he could not make a gown that would fit a woman equally well at all times unless he made it of India rubber.

Now why not of India rubber? It would not be necessary to make a whole garment of it, but why would it not be practical and comfortable to make garments with India rubber inserts, so that they would in a measure accommodate themselves to the varying shape of the human body?

There are men who are mere human slabs, and their clothes fit them in any position, whether they are standing erect or are tied up in a knot.
Then there are men who are generous livers and whose figures are more or less marred by an abdominal de-formity. What can the tailor do with them? If a suit fits them when standing it is wrinkled out of shape when they sit down, and if it fits them sitting it is a fright when they are standing. Even a full meal changes the situation and produces discomfort. All this trouble might be obviated by using India rubber inserts.

In England India rubber is not needed, as clothing is never made to fit and there is no desire to have it fit.
An English "gentleman's" coat looks like a shawl. He sneers at an American with a well-fitting suit, and says he looks like a lackey, or as if he had been melted and poured into his clothing. This English fashion of wearing loose and ungainly clothing is taking root in this country to some extent.
Just as the American practice of wearing well-fitting clothes is modifying the English fashion.

One thing is certain, if we are to retain the American style, it would be greatly improved by the India rubber attachment.

THE LAXATIVE OF KNOWN QUALITY

There are two classes of remedies: those of known quality and which are permanently beneficial in effect, acting gently, in harmony with nature, when nature needs assistance; and another class, composed of preparations of unknown, uncertain and inferior character, acting temporarily, but injuriously, as a result of forcing the natural functions unnecessarily. One of the most exceptional of the remedies of known quality and excellence is the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., which represents the active principles of plants, known to act most beneficially, in a pleasant syrup, in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to contribute their rich, yet delicate, fruity flavor. It is the remedy of all remedies to sweeten and refresh and cleanse the system gently and naturally, and to assist one in overcoming constipation and the many ills resulting therefrom. Its active principles and quality are known to physicians generally, and the remedy has therefore met with their approval, as well as with the favor of many millions of well informed persons who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual experience that it is a most excellent laxative remedy. We do not claim that it will cure all manner of ills, but recommend it for what it really represents, a laxative remedy of known quality and excellence, containing nothing of an objectionable or injurious character.

There are two classes of purchasers: those who are informed as to the quality of what they buy and the reasons for the excellence of articles of exceptional merit, and who do not lack courage to go elsewhere when a dealer offers an imitation of any well known article; but, unfortunately, there are some people who do not know, and who allow themselves to be imposed upon. They cannot expect its beneficial effects if they do not get the genuine remedy.

To the credit of the druggists of the United States be it said that nearly all of them value their reputation for professional integrity and the good will of their customers too highly to offer imitations of the Visitors to that country need to be forth in a recent consular report of the United States agent at Puebla, and reinforced by the authority of Mme. Gal-ter of Spain to Mexico, who says that the point of etiquette involved is peculiar to that country, having no known existence elsewhere. The people are very kind and hospitable when approached in their own way, and none other is understood or taken any notice of by them.

DECEPTION.

When the conjurer shows an empty hat, and at once begins to extract from it rabbits or cabbages, we know that he has been adroitly deceived, because we know we can't get out anything that isn't in it.

People would only reason in that way about medicines they would be a great deal better off in health and pocket.

A number of so called "blood making" and
"flesh forming"
"tonic" medicines are only stimulants in disguise. You can't get strength out of a stimulant because strength is not in it. All physical strength is derived from food digested and assimilated and in the form of blood nourishing
the entire body.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does not make blood or make strength, no medicine can do that. But it does cure diseases of the stomach and its allied organs, and so causing the perfect digestion and assimilation of food, it enables the building of the body in sound and vigorous health.

"I can say to you one bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has cured me sound and well, after suffering two long years with stomach disease," writes W. H. Branswell, of McAdenville, Gaston Co., N. C. "My health is worth all the world to me. I will praise you as long as I live."

Adviser, a book containing 1006 pages, the expense of mailing only, for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the volume bound in cloth. Address Dr. R. V.

SPECIAL SALE OF
HIGH GRADE PIANOS
BEGINNING TODAY

In order to introduce the different lines of pianos which we carry in stock we will for the next 10 days conduct a special sale at which we will offer pianos at prices which cannot help but interest everyone. We are the only firm in the west doing business under what is known as the One Price System. Our rule is:

ONE PRICE TO ALL AND THAT THE LOWEST

Under this system we save you from $50 to $150.00 on a piano. It is customary, however, in opening a new house to offer a special inducement as a means of introducing our goods, and consequently we will for

10 DAYS ONLY

give a 10 per cent discount from the regular retail price on each and every piano and player in our stock. This makes an additional saving for you, and even though you should feel that you are not quite ready to make your purchase, this very liberal discount which we are making should be an inducement for you—even though you have to borrow a small sum to make the first payment.

Our stock consists of strictly high grade pianos, such as the Knabe Everett stock, Hardman, Mason & Hamlin, Ludwig, Harrington, Hensl, Howard, Price & Tenle and Kingsbury also the Aeolian, Autopiano, and the Chase Baker player. All of them will be sold subject to the 10 per cent discount and on terms ranging from $5 a month and up.
After the introductory sale the prices will be the same as those of the San Francisco house. We do not carry any of the cheap, trashy lines commonly known as Stencils, and which are so popular with the small dealers. Each and every instrument in our stock is sold under an absolute guarantee signed by the manufacturer and by ourselves.

If you buy an instrument of us and do not find it as represented we will refund your money. We have no second hand, shopworn or damaged pianos to offer you. Our stock is brand new, and direct from the factory.

If you have an old organ or piano we will take it as part payment on a new one, allowing you all it is worth.

In order to accommodate those who are unable to come in the day time, our store will be open till 9 p. m. Don't fail to take advantage of this opportunity.

Every evening from 7:30 till 9 p. m. we will give a Recital, using the celebrated Aeolian, Autopiano and Chase & Baker Piano Player.
If you have never heard them you are sure to enjoy it.
